DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 3,944,626 to Honna et al. (hereinafter "Honna").

Honna discloses a process of isomerization of a tricyclic saturated hydrocarbon having 10 to 14 carbon atoms in the presence of a solid catalyst to produce a product containing adamantane (Abstract, col. 1, lines 37-44). The solution is concentrated so that an adamantane of more than 99% pure is precipitated and the crystalline adamantane of more than 99% is separated (Examples 1 and 2). Honna further discloses that the process is conducted by either continuous system or a batch system (col. 2, lines 66-67). Precipitation step is conducted by standing the concentrate for several hours at ordinary temperature".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7 and 12-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent 3,944,626 to Honna et al. (hereinafter "Honna").

Honna discloses a process of isomerization of a tricyclic saturated hydrocarbon having 10 to 14 carbon atoms in the presence of a solid catalyst to produce a product containing adamantane (Abstract, col. 1, lines 37-44). The solution is concentrated so that an adamantane of more than 99% pure is precipitated and the crystalline adamantane of more than 99% is separated (Examples 1 and 2).

Honna does not disclose washing and drying the adamantane crystals.

However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of Honna by washing and drying the precipitated adamantane to remove possible impurities and dirt and washing solution on the crystals to obtain clean adamantane crystals.
